VOL. VI. NO. 173 — FRESNO, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1893 — PRICE—5 CENTS

WILSON'S REPEAL BILL

Was Passed by the House Yesterday

BY A GREAT MAJORITY

The California Delegation Was Divided on All the Propositions.

WASHINGTON, August 28.—There was a big attendance this morning to witness the vote on the Wilson repeal bill and amendment.

McMillan of Tennessee wished to offer an amendment for free coinage of the product of American mines, but Bland objected, saying it was not free coinage at all.

Then the Wilson bill, repealing the silver purchase clause of the Sherman act, was read, and Bland offered his first amendment for free coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1, which was defeated by 123 to 225. All other amendments were defeated.

The Wilson repeal bill then passed by a vote of 239 to 110.

At the conclusion of the vote Catchings gave notice that he would ask the house to consider rules tomorrow, and then the house adjourned.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, August 28.—Sherman gave notice that he would address the senate on silver Wednesday, and Wolcott on Thursday.

After the Wilson bill had been received from the house and referred, the senate proceeded to executive session and soon after adjourned.

How They Voted.

WASHINGTON, August 28.—Following is the vote of the California delegation on the several financial propositions:

On a ratio of 16 to 1—Ayes, Bowers, Cannon, Caminetti, Geary, Maguire; noes, Hilborn, Loud.

Ratio of 17 to 1—Ayes, Bowers, Caminetti; noes, Geary, Hilborn, Loud; Cannon, Maguire not voting.

Ratio of 18 to 1—Ayes, Bowers, Caminetti, Cannon, Hilborn; noes, Geary, Loud, maguire.

Ratio of 19 to 1—Ayes, Bowers, Caminetti, Cannon, Hilborn; noes, Geary, Loud, Maguire not voting.

Ratio of 20 to 1—Ayes, Bowers, Caminetti, Cannon, Hilborn; noes, Geary, Loud, Maguire.

Bland-Allison act for restoration—Ayes—Bowers, Caminetti, Cannon, Hilborn, Maguire; Noes, Geary, Loud.

Wilson bill—Ayes, Cannon, Geary; Noes, Bowers, Caminetti, Hilborn, Loud, Maguire.

Swept by a Cyclone.

CHARLESTON, S.C., August 28.—A fearful cyclone destroyed a great portion of the property on Tyler island tonight. Nothing definite can be learned, but the losses will no doubt run into the millions. Other points along the coast were also badly damaged.

THOMAS GETS HIS COIN.

A Decision of a Bet That Did Not Decide.

Judge Webb finally disposed of a matter talked of case yesterday in Thomas vs. the Bank of Central California, in which the latter was intervenor.

The agent of the Provident Savings Assurance Company and that of the Mutual Life Insurance Company were competing for life insurance business here three or four years ago and made a wager of $1000 on the relative merits of their respective companies, the winnings to go to the city of Fresno.

The committee of citizens selected to decide the matter did a thrifty turn and reported that both had lost.

This did not suit the agents and suit was instituted by one of them to recover the amount wagered, which had been deposited in the Bank of Central California.

Judge Webb held that the decision of the committee was not a decision as contemplated by the parties to the wager and awarded the plaintiff the sum demanded without costs, and granted a stay of execution for sixty days.

"JANE."

She Plays to a Big Audience at the Barton.

A large and very enthusiastic audience witnessed the performance of "Jane" by the Madison Square Company at the Barton opera house last night.

For a curtain raiser the one-act play "Charms" was given and proved a very laughable little comedy.

"Jane" is a delightful comedy, sparkling with wit and full of mirth-provoking situations, and the audience was kept in roars of laughter from the time the curtain went up until it fell. It is a pity that we do not see more of this class of plays, they are indeed quite refreshing.

Miss Jennie Yeamans, who assumed the title role, is a charming little actress, but her portrayal of the part lacked the finish that Miss Johnstone Bennett gave the same character when she played "Jane" here last season.

Adolph Jackson as Charles Shackleton was an admirable man of the world and did the part justice.

Maggie Holloway Fisher made an amusing Mrs. Chadwick and came in for a goodly share of the applause.

Taken altogether the company was a well balanced one, and the evening's entertainment a most enjoyable one. Those who missed "Jane" missed a treat.

STEELE PEAK.

The Pilgrim's Jewelry.

If the new yacht Pilgrim, which was built to defend America's cup, fails to win, it will not be for lack of attention to the regular sea dog superstitions. A ring from Mr. Stewart, a moonstone scarfpin from the captain and various odds and ends have been deposited at the heel of the mast for good luck.

A Cheap Lot of Old Stocks.

At the auction sale, the other day, of the personal property of the late Governor Hale of New Hampshire, stocks having a par value of $2,700,000 and promissory notes with a face value of $57,000 were sold to the highest bidder for less than $7.—New York Tribune.

A FIGHT IN JAIL.

A Would Be Negro Cannibal Chews a White Man.

Sunday afternoon a peculiarly vicious and inexcusable attack was made on a white man in jail by a negro prisoner named Merwin.

It seems that these prisoners got into a dispute, and the negro in an offensive manner called the white man a liar, when the latter struck him.

The negro then pitched into the white man, who was much the smaller, while another big brute of a negro prevented the other prisoners from interfering, by threats and menacing blows.

The other negro got the white man down under him and bit him in the back and clawed him in the face in a terrible manner.

The white man, though helpless, refused to acknowledge himself whipped, although he suffered excruciating pain from the terrible bites of the negro in his loins.

The jailer called John A. Barker, who was visiting in the jail, to his assistance and separated them. They had some difficulty in getting them into the cell, and in the scuffle the larger negro got his hand badly smashed by the iron door thereof.

MIDWINTER EXHIBIT.

FRUIT DONATED IN LIBERAL QUANTITIES.

Cereals and Jellies in Demand With None in Sight As Yet.

The Midwinter Fair commissioners are receiving fruit in large quantities now and of excellent quality.

However, do what they will, they cannot impress upon fruit growers the fact that they cannot use over ripe fruit.

Some of the very finest fruit has been a total loss, not only of the fruit but of the chemicals and labor of putting it up.

The fruit should be taken before fully ripe, and when it comes to perfection in color, otherwise it bursts open when put in the preserving fluid and will not retain its shape.

In no case should the fruit be handled, squeezed or its natural bloom interfered with. The commissioners will clean off any dust. What they want is fine fruit in its natural state.

The commissioners state that no dried fruit has been contributed.

Growers of wheat and other cereals have not as yet responded and a fine display of grain is needed.

Very few vegetables have come in and they are especially wanted.

A large number of pumpkin plumes are wanted. Cut them just as they come out, cover them with dry sand and let them dry in the sun.

The commission calls upon the ladies for a liberal display of jellies of all kinds.

The commission stands ready to answer any and all questions in the matter.

The following contributions are acknowledged:

Susquehanna peaches from S. F. Dunlap.

Ira H. Brooks, a quantity of Beurre Clairgeau pears.

A. Cartwright, some fine samples of Beurre du Boise pears.

A cluster of plums from Dr. Prather Supervisor J. H. Sayre of Sanger, a quantity of Isabella grapes, Johnson apples, late Crawford peaches and Beurre Clairgeau peaches.

Some fine samples of lemon cling peaches and Hungarian prunes, donated by T. L. Loomis of Nevada colony.

H. N. Cutler of Selma, a box of late Crawford peaches.

Locan Vineyard Company, Sellers' orange peach.

L. Bachant, Fresno, Black Morocco grape.

Kerser Brothers, Madison, orange cling peach.

E. B. Rogers, Margherita vineyard, Gross Morocco grape, Bartlett pear, golden queen grape.

W. B. Atwater, Washington colony, orange cling on trees two years set in orchard, three years from bud.

DETERMINED TO DIE

John Popken, a German, Commits Suicide.

A PACIFIC BANK VICTIM

He Slashed His Throat and Then Hung Himself—The Inquest.

Wrecked in fortune and disappointed in love, John Popken, foreman of Wolter's vineyard, committed suicide last Sunday night.

How determined the man was to end his existence the horrible wounds on his body plainly showed. There were three deep gashes on the left side of his neck and two on his right. Both his wrists were also slashed, and to make sure of finishing the job the desperate man hung himself.

The body was found hanging in the carriage room of the farm yesterday morning at 7 o'clock by William Peters, one of the hired men. Investigation showed he had wandered down the road towards the city in his bare feet. After walking about two miles he returned, and arriving at the vineyard halted near an oleander tree not far from the house.

Here he lay down in the dust and hacked savagely at his throat with his pocket knife, wallowing about in his pain. He then arose and walked to the barn. Entering the carriage house he threw a strap over the beam and fastened it. To the strap he tied a piece of lariat rope, passing a noose around his neck. He then jumped from the cart, on which he was standing while making these preparations, into eternity.

Popken was one of the unfortunate devils who deposited their money in the Pacific bank at San Francisco, and there is no doubt that the failure of that rotten institution was the direct cause of his death. He had been continually brooding over his loss and became a prey to melancholy. The loss of the money also affected adversely an affair of the heart, which, no doubt, increased his despondency.

Popken was a native of Germany, and about 32 years old. He was industrious and temperate, and liked by those who knew him. He was a member of the lodge of Hermann's Sons at Livermore, where he has a sister living. A brother of the deceased lives in Iowa.

Coroner L. O. Stephens held the inquest at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

William Peters was the first witness. He testified as follows:

"I live at Wolters' vineyard and knew the deceased. Last evening after supper we were in the kitchen talking. He complained about the money he had lost and I told him not to grow about that as it was better to have his health than his money. I left him about 7:30 o'clock and went to my room. About midnight I heard the dog barking and called John. He did not answer and I went to sleep again. This morning after I got up I looked for him. Not finding him I called him by his name. Being unsuccessful in my search I went to feed the chickens. Passing the barn I noticed the door was open. Looking in I saw Popken's body hanging in the corner. I immediately summoned the boys and then came to town and notified the coroner. Popken has money in the Pacific bank in San Francisco. He talked about it a good deal. He had been acting different from what he used to of late and told me once he wished he were dead. He never said he would kill himself. He acted more peculiarly since the failure of the bank than before. He has been here about two and a half years. He had eaten nothing for three days preceding his death. His mind seemed to be continually on the money he had lost."

The witness identified the knife with which Popken had killed himself as belonging to Popken. Gilbert Stevens, the next witness, corroborated Peters' testimony about the finding of Popken's body.

James Stevens, who lives in Wolters' colony, said he was on his way to Wolters' place when he met Peters, who told him of Popken's suicide. Together they went to the vineyard and to the barn where Popken's body was. On the way to this city to notify the coroner, Stevens observed what he took to be Popken's tracks. They led out of the gate down the road about two miles, then turned back toward the vineyard to the house. He had evidently stopped frequently, moving the sand about with his feet. Within half a mile of the house the steps were very short, but lengthened further on. After Popken came back he entered at the south gate and stopped at an oleander tree. From all appearances it was there where he cut his throat, as there was a great pool of blood, and the ground was disturbed as if Popken had lain down. From there the tracks led to the barn. The clothes Popken were were dusty. In a pouch attached to a string around his neck were found $60. Besides this there was $6.75 in his pockets. The knife lay nearly beneath the place Popken was hanging.

"Mr. Popken seemed to be worried ever since he came from the east about a month ago. He was 'away off.' We had a long talk about the money he had in the Pacific bank. He was very much worried and I tried to console him. He livened up some, but in a few minutes would be as despondent as ever. Every time I saw him he talked about the money."

The testimony of Charles Hacker of Scandinavian colony gave the unfortunate affair a somewhat romantic turn.

He related that Popken went east about two and a half months ago. Before leaving he told Hacker he intended to get married, buy a farm and settle down.

"When Popken returned," continued the witness, "he told me he had bought a farm, but had not married. He was engaged to a lady in Iowa, however. He made a bargain for eighty acres in Iowa. Presenting a check on the Pacific bank for $1000 he was told it was not worth two bits. This surprised Popken and he told me that tears came to his eyes when he heard the bad news. So the bargain for the land was not closed and his girl went back on him because he could not buy it.

"Popken then went to work for his brother in Iowa for $20 a month. He became very restless and could not sleep and would get up at night and walk through the fields like a crazy man. He told me this himself. His brothers tried to console him, but to no purpose. He then came back to Fresno and worked for Mr. Wolters again.

"I met him yesterday for the last time. He had on his old clothes, and when I asked him why he did not put on his good ones he said he did not expect any ladies that day. We then had some wine and in the course of conversation I told him he could get $500 for his claim of a thousand on the Pacific bank. He answered that the matter was in Mr. Wolters' hands."

This ended the inquiry. A verdict of suicide was rendered. The funeral will take place tomorrow. Popken's sister, Mrs. Richard Vogel, of Alameda has been notified of her brother's death and will probably attend the funeral. The local lodge of Hermann's Sons will be present as a body.

LUCCA ZENOVITCH.

His Death Attributed to Natural Causes.

An inquest was held yesterday on the body of Lucca Zenovitch, whose sudden death was chronicled in Sunday's Republican.

The circumstances attending his death were detailed in evidence by E. Carrico and Stephen N. Mitrovich before the coroner and a jury.

Zenovitch had been picking figs on the John W. Pew place in Nevada colony for Mitrovich, who has his headquarters at E. Kennedy's vineyard.

He had been in good health and spirits at noon, and went back to Pew's to work. When found he had wandered about a quarter of a mile in the opposite direction from Kennedy's, and was unable to talk.

He was plied with camphor and restoratives, but soon became insensible and died. The jury brought in a verdict of death from natural causes.

Zenovitch was between 40 and 45 years of age and in his earlier days had been quite ambitious and had something of a romantic career which changed him very much and it is thought to some degree to have impaired his mind.

It is said that he became engaged to a Jewess in San Francisco whose wealthy father opposed the match. They were married, however, and soon after the father had him arrested on a charge of insanity.

He was discharged on examination. He sued for damages, but claimed that his attorney was corrupted by the defendant and lost him the case.

Another instance of his impetuous temperament is given in connection with an affair that took place in the Slavonian Illirian Mutual Benevolent Society in San Francisco about eight years ago.

There was some sort of a celebration on foot and the Austrian flag was unfurled in the lodge room. Zenovitch insisted that it had no place there and that the American flag was the proper emblem.

He therefore tore it down, and having cut it to pieces threw it out of the window. This resulted in a row and Zenovitch had to draw a pistol to prevent his fellows from thumping him. The affair created something of a sensation at the time.

VOTE for the court house bonds next Saturday.

A CORRUPTION fund is being raised in Ohio whose judicious distribution it is hoped by the Democrats will defeat McKinley.

MRS. LANGTRY, it is stated, will not visit the United States this year; so we are spared at least one threatened affliction.

THAT it would make silver mining profitable appears to be the sole reason with some people for their opposition to bimetallism.

How do the people of Madera, Tulare, Kings and Kern counties like the threat of the insurance trust to increase the rates in those counties from 50 to 100 per cent?

THE hope of the silver men is in the senate now. Cleveland's patronage mill will be invitingly exposed to the view of the faltering gold bugs and the weak silverites.

IT is stated by a French scientist that no living germ or disease can resist the antiseptic power of essence of cinnamon. Wonder if the essence can rid the financial situation of gold bugs?

IT has remained for Democratic rule to produce that anomaly on American soil, a bread riot. Here is another chance for a free trade homily from ex-Secretary Whitney on the "lower classes."

QUITE a victory was scored by the unconditional repeal men in the house yesterday: a greater one, in fact, than was expected. The Wilson act, an administration measure, was passed by a vote of 239 to 110. It appears as if some of the silver advocates couldn't withstand the promises of Fisher Cleveland.

THE French seem to be determined to get into trouble. Not satisfied with recent aggressions on the rights of Siam, they now demand what would be equivalent to disorganization of the Siamese army—the dismissal of its Danish officers. It is to be hoped the French will get, not what they want, but what they need.

A RESIDENCE in the east seems to have a civilizing effect upon Chinamen. In New York the other day one Ah Bow killed himself because his white girl deserted him. Out here he would have killed the girl. Since eastern influences have such favorable effects upon the Mongolian heart and mind, why not ship them to the Atlantic seaboard.

THE guileless Bedouins who infest the Midway Plaisance at the World's Fair have a way of dealing with debtors that must be very effective. A few days ago they bound and gagged their manager, tied him to a horse and lashed the animal into a gallop. When the manager was finally rescued he realized, it is said, that there were worse experiences than paying salaries promptly.

EDUCATORS are giving considerable attention to the method of writing now taught in the schools, and practiced by ninety-nine people out of every hundred. It is asserted that the slanting script is the cause of myopia and curvature of the spine, and the reformers advocate vertical writing. Medical men agree with these educators, if indeed it was not they who first suggested the change, and it is probable that in a few years vertical writing will be taught in the schools instead of the slanting.

IN a column editorial the Boston Herald endeavors to convince an inquiring reader that now is the very time to revise the tariff. The reasons given by this journal are unique. It argues that the condition of the country is as bad as possible, therefore tariff reduction can make it no worse. In other words, the patient is as low as he well can be, and hence this is the opportune time for an operation that requires all his vitality and recuperative powers. This is bad logic and dangerous practice.

THAT organization of dudish butchers known as the Country club held its shoot at Monterey the other day and slaughtered a large number of pigeons in the usual cold-blooded manner. There is absolutely nothing to be said in favor of such spectacles as the Country club provides. They furnish no "sport" and serve no useful purpose. So far as the improvement of marksmanship is concerned, that can be as well accomplished by using inanimate and moving targets. Such disgusting exhibitions as the Country club gives should be interdicted.

"THE thousands of workingmen who are out of employment," says ex-Congressman Frederick Miles of Connecticut, "no doubt take a deep interest in the bulletins of Mr. Cleveland's fishing expeditions. Still they cannot feed their families on fish stories. They are not very nourishing. How would it do for Mr. Cleveland to devote all the fish he catches and present them to the men who have lost their positions since his administration began? There would not be enough fish to go around, of course, but every little helps, and the President would receive credit for his good intentions."

IF the Pacific Coast Insurance Union has decided to recede from its inimical attitude toward Fresno we have not yet been apprised thereof. It certainly seems as if due deliberation would convince the union that it has taken a very unwise step, and one that will redound to its own serious injury. There are times in which people think and it will not require much mental exertion on their part to understand that the union is taking advantage of the great privileges obliging legislatures have conferred upon it. Naturally, the people will see to it that such men are sent to the legislature next time as will withdraw these privileges. The people will do the right thing under great provocation sometimes, and that queer combination known as the Pacific Coast Insurance Union is in a fair way to find this out. No valid reason has yet been given by it for its 50 per cent increase in rates here, and it is extremely improbable that it can advance any. The union has become too bold in its prosperity and a great fall is in store for it.

THE Examiner makes the following suggestions which, if followed, it believes will relieve the wine growers:

The worst sufferers just now are the wine growers. They are dependent upon the small country wineries for their market, and these are unable to buy their grapes because they can obtain no advances from the banks. If the wine were made it could be sold to the large dealers in the city, but it cannot be made until the grapes are picked, the grapes cannot be picked without money, and money cannot be had until the wine is sold. This is the apparently unscalable ringfence that imprisons the viticultural industry.

If no help can be obtained from capitalists it ought still be possible for the growers to help themselves. In the east the lack of ready money has led to every variety of substitute, and somehow people manage to live and work when they have to do it on credit. If the wine makers would issue warehouse receipts for convenient amounts of wine on deposits of grapes they might serve the purposes to a considerable extent of currency. A still better substitute for money would be certified checks dated ninety days ahead. The banks might venture to certify the checks on deposit of warehouse receipts for grapes as collateral security. This would give the growers a chance to turn their crops into wine before their obligations matured.

The great trouble would be in meeting payrolls, and this is one of the chief complications in the Chinese problem. It is possible in some districts to contract with a Chinese boss for labor and secure a reasonable time for payment, while white men must be paid cash on the nail. If white laborers could be induced to accept safe credit paper much of the difficulties of the growers would disappear. There is a chance here for contractors of means to make handsome profits by taking the place of the Chinese bosses, furnishing white labor in bulk, paying the wages of the men, and reimbursing themselves from the proceeds of the ranchers' crops.

Whatever plan may be thought best something should be done at once. The vintage is too important a part of our resources to be sacrificed to an irrational lockup of coin.

THE LABOR QUESTION

Chinamen Are Given the Preference.

SO SAY THE WHITE LABORERS

Many of the Men Still Waiting for Work—Provisions Needed.

There are now registered at the free labor bureau on I street about 950 persons, of which number over 400 have obtained employment. Those who still cluster about the bureau are waiting patiently for the summons that will put them to work, but it seems very slow in arriving.

If reports are to be relied upon some vineyardists are not carrying out their promise to give white men the preference over Chinamen. It is stated that load after load of Chinese are being taken to the vineyards to pick grapes, their pay being one dollar a day and board.

A vineyardist told Superintendent Parsons of the free labor bureau that he met another vineyardist in Chinatown yesterday looking for grape pickers. Asked by Mr. Parsons' informant why he did not employ white men who were willing to work for the same wages, the vineyardist would not or could not answer. It is stated this man is paying the Chinese in cash.

Of course the men know that they are being ignored by some of the employers and feel quite sore about it. They are willing to work hard and will be satisfied to work for a dollar per diem and board. To such vineyardists as cannot pay in full they would no doubt make concessions in the way of time, but they must, of course, be paid enough to enable them to buy food.

It is unjust also to our citizens for the vineyardists to refuse to give the white men at least a trial. They are being fed by private contributions in the hope that the vineyardists will at the proper time give the poor men employment, but the people who are engaged in the benevolent work of feeding the hungry cannot keep it up much longer, because the drain is too great on them.

The men are a deserving lot of laborers and it appears now as if the tramp element had been entirely eliminated. Squads of them are still removing weeds and rubbish from the streets and the overseers say the men are careful and industrious. About forty of them were sent to the vineyards yesterday.

In last Saturday's issue of the Stockton Mail there appeared a letter signed by Albrecht & Harris of Fowler. They say they want industrious men and boys to pick grapes and that there are not enough white laborers in Fresno. If Messrs. Albrecht & Harris will take the trouble to come to Fresno they will be able to get all the white men they need. There are in fact more workingmen in the county than can be provided with employment. It may be, however, that Albrecht & Harris can get men cheaper in Stockton.

It is to be hoped that the vineyardists will give white men the preference, as many said they would. It should not be difficult to come to a fair arrangement. In the meantime all who can afford to do so will do a good deed by sending provisions of any kind whatever to Mr. Parsons at the free labor bureau.

The following letter from one of the unemployed explains itself:

FRESNO REPUBLICAN.—First I will say my heart is not breaking for the role of an agitator; and if you will believe me, this is my maiden effort—the first time I have had anything to offer on the labor situation. Furthermore, in order that there may be no time lost in making inquiries as to who I am, I will briefly state that I am one of your floating population. I am an old time mining man, one of that unfortunate class whom the fickle goddess Fortune never smiles upon; and the same thing has driven me to your gates which has impelled hundreds of others to come here, viz., hard times and inability to get work of any kind elsewhere.

"Pard" and I (yes I have a "pard") came here over two weeks ago—not as hobos and tramps, but as gentlemen seeking employment. We are not broke yet either, but we soon shall be if we don't get work; and then, to a certainty you'll be calling us rags and hobos. Now, some of your citizens have coined through your city paper columns on the labor question, and the best thing they have said, considering the state of the weather, is: "There, keep cool; it will all come out right; you will all get work," etc., etc.

Now the boys have been trying to keep cool, as any one of your citizens who has daily crossed your neck can testify; and though we can assure you it is not unpleasant to be "put on ice" these days, yet a feeling of uneasiness which we see is fast becoming one of discontent is springing up and taking root. The fact of the matter is, hanging in the city park day after day is becoming exceedingly monotonous to many of us. Why should we not be at work? There seems to be plenty to do, for loads of Celestials are called out in the night time and driven to the vineyards—you, verily, and every train drops off more or less of them here. And it is evident they have been sent for, too, for they shoulder their blankets and head for the vineyards as soon as they land.

Must we lie about idle until the eleventh hour? Are we reserved to harvest the tail end of the fruit crop? We who have waited two or three weeks, dropping our dollars into your till, dollars that were so hard to get, dollars that we can so ill afford to part company with? It doesn't look to us as though we are getting a square deal, and we don't believe that we are, either; and we make this kick because we think the Chinaman is getting and will in the outcome have two loaves to our one. Does he spend with you two dollars to our one? But this question has been answered before. For all the good money paid in wages to Chinamen will do you business men of Fresno it might about as well be thrown broadcast into the sea; and you well know it.

But even were this not the case, is it right that your own countrymen take a back seat in times like these? Is it right that we be forced to travel about hungry and destitute? And can you expect anything but evil to grow out of such a state of things? Men must and will live some how or other. Don't you know that there are those among us who are pioneers of the Golden West? Those who have opened up the country and helped to make it what it is? And it matters little what the circumstances that brought us where we are.

Of course, I know there are those among us of the genuine hobo order, men who don't want work, men who won't work when they have a dollar or two in their jeans, but I am satisfied this class of men is out of sight in the minority here. And I now appeal to our sympathizing friends in Fresno to wake up. Don't drop the good work you so earnestly, so nobly began. You promised to help us; you pledged to bridge over the difficulty for us; are you doing your whole duty? Are you doing all you can? Don't you know that with folded arms we are are waiting for you to announce the victory—for you to say, "Boys, it is all right; there is now work for you all, we wish you well and God bless you!"

I heard one of our citizens remark yesterday, "It's the best natured crowd of idle men I ever saw together." In the main, the boys have behaved like gentlemen, and why? Because we have laid our grievance at your door and because you promised us relief. Again, wake up! and help us. It is time we were were all to work.

A MERITED TRIBUTE.

Resolutions of Sympathy of the Typographical Union.

At the meeting of Fresno Typographical Union No. 144 Sunday, the following resolutions were adopted:

To the Officers and Members of Fresno City Typographical Union No. 144.

Since the last session of this union Death, with its merciless and relentless hand, has visited our midst and taken with him one of our most honored and respected members, Ellsworth Burr Boust.

While we cannot but regret the loss of so valued and accomplished a man and printer, there is a consolation in feeling that he is in a world remote from pain and suffering, bickerings and criminations.

In the death of Colonel Boust this Union grieves the loss of its Nestor; the loss of a fair and square man; one who was above the petty jealousies and strifes of this life; one who always had a kind word and an open purse for those less fortunate than he; and, to use his own language, one who always tried to play fair.

While this Union keenly feels the removal of so exemplary a printer, and his immediate associates so cheerful and desirable a companion, it is not to be compared to the deep grief and woe of his family, who, in the long, sad and lonely hours, miss the kind and loving husband and father.

Hence, in this hour of mourning and weeping Fresno Typographical Union extends to the widow and children its sincere and heartfelt sympathies, knowing that they have lost a protector whose love and affection went out to them in its full. Requiescat in pace.

And it is hereby ordered that the charter of this Union be draped in mourning for thirty days; that a copy of this feeble expression of grief be sent to the widow, and a copy furnished the newspapers of this city for publication.

Most respectfully submitted.

CENTRAL COLONY HOODLUMS

Give Exhibitions of the Nude to Passers-by.

Complaint is made that about a dozen boys make a practice of bathing every Sunday in the Central ditch, Central colony, right along the roadside.

They run around among the orchards and vineyards naked, pelt each other with fruit and even ride up and down the road in carts.

The actions of those young miscreants, who range from 10 to 16 years, have become intolerable and no decent person will pass that way.

Not content with the indecent spectacle they present, they pull props from under the fruit trees and indulge in other mischief much to the annoyance of ranchers in the vicinity.

The authorities will take this matter in hand and break this gang of young hoodlums up.

A HIGH SCHOOL GIRL

Asks That the Opening of Schools Be Delayed.

EXPOSITOR REPUBLICAN.—Will you please allow me a little space in your paper to say a few words to the public?

I would like to hear through the paper what the people of Fresno think of the idea of getting up a petition asking the Board of Education to put off the opening of school for another month to enable the school girls to work that length of time in the packing houses.

Many, indeed a great many, who had plenty last year are reduced to this necessity on account of the hard times, and really need this work to enable them to buy books and clothing for school. Will the school girls give their opinions, too? A HIGH SCHOOL GIRL.

Gallagher Gets There.

Judge Harris announced a decision in the case of James Gallagher vs. J. P. Vincent, by which he decides the contest for a seat in the city Board of Education in favor of the contestant.

Judge Harris takes Judge Graham's view of the form of ballot and statements necessary to make it of legal form.

Republican ballots, on which four names were voted without stating whether for full term or vacancy, were thrown out as irregular for uncertainty, there being but three vacancies for full term. This elects Gallagher. Judge Harris will file a written opinion.

"FIVE WERE FOOLISH."

PARSON COLLINS' DISCOURSE ON THE PARABLE.

"The World's Greatest Battlefield," the Subject Next Sunday.

The Congregational church was crowded again last Sunday evening and a number were turned away.

The people were so anxious to be in time to secure seats that the service began fifteen minutes before the hour announced. The song service, as usual, was very spirited.

Rev. J. H. Collins read the parable of the ten virgins from the twenty-fifth chapter of Matthew, and took for his text the following words: "And Five Were Foolish."

A brief outline of the sermon is as follows:

Christ was seeking to impress a great truth upon the minds of his hearers.

If you accept my interpretative of this parable we will allow the ten virgins to represent the people to whom Christ was speaking, or this audience: the lamp represents the life entrusted to each of us; the oil represents religion, or God's spirit, and going "forth to meet the bridegroom" represents our going forth to meet the Great Judge.

The point of foolishness was determined not upon the social or financial standing of virgins, but upon the preparation which they had made, or failed to make, for a certain event of the coming of which they were each conscious.

If the men who would refuse to grasp earthly advantages and make preparation for earthly happiness would be called foolish, how much more foolish are we if we fail to make the needful preparation for meeting our Judge?

A lamp without oil is useless. A lamp with oil will light our own pathway as we struggle on, and by its light we may see the blessed opportunities all about us.

So if the spirit of God abides within our souls our life's pathway will be bright and we may see many beautiful advantages and opportunities, while the one who seeks not God's spirit will be groping in darkness. And if we have no light in our own lives how can we light the pathway of those about us?

The line of foolishness for these five was drawn at the lack of preparation. That lack of preparation may have been due to one or both of two causes.

First, simple carelessness or thoughtlessness on their part, but this is no excuse for sin, and against them the "door was shut." Many people excuse their friends and relatives on the ground of their thoughtlessness, but God will not accept any such excuse.

Second, perhaps they planned on being helped in the hour of need by their associates, for they said, "Give us of your oil for our lamps are out." But that proved a time when every one was to stand upon the preparation which they had made. So when the Great Judge shall come we will have to stand or fall according to the preparation we make now in this life.

Some men have said to me that God could not be just and separate them for eternity from Christian wives, mothers and friends.

One would be surprised at the number of persons about us who are depending upon the goodness of others to help them into heaven, but the truth of this parable is that against all such "the door will be shut."

The speaker urged the great need of individual preparation at a time when it was possible, and that time, he claimed, was now.

Miss Perkins, a recent graduate of Vassar college, who is visiting her parents in West Park colony, favored the large congregation with the touching, tender solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." It was sung in fine voice and was very much enjoyed.

Mr. Collins will speak upon "The World's Greatest Battlefield," next Sunday evening.

'TWAS NOT A TEMBLOR.

But Merely a Tramp Getting His Deserts.

Did you think you felt an earthquake shock Sunday morning? If you did it was a mistake, for it was a human cyclone in Fisher's addition.

A. M. Bradley is a civil engineer, and in all his dealings with friends is civil and gentlemanly. He lives in the above addition, has a fine home, an excellent wife and a sweet little daughter 6 years of age.

For several days there has been a burly tramp lounging around in the neighborhood and sleeping beneath convenient shade trees. Sunday morning Mr. Bradley went to his barn to attend to his horse and when arriving there found a party of two therein, consisting of the aforesaid Tramp and his little daughter, the latter sitting upon the man's lap.

Mr. Bradley asked the tramp what he was doing with his child upon his dirty lap. The fellow answered that she climbed into it. The child thereupon exclaimed, "I did not papa; he pulled me up here."

Then there was a rustle, a bustle and a hustle. The earth seemed to quake with fear, for here a thing occurred that would meet with every parent's approbation. That tramp found himself punched, mashed and bleeding; and in another half second his filthy carcass was lying in the alley, his life's blood contaminating the little grains of sand.

Mr. Bradley, as a parting warning, said: "If I find you here in five minutes I will kill you." Then, as a serpent, that filthy frame had strength only to crawl away.

USURY'S RAVAGES.

WHAT IT WILL BRING THIS COUNTRY TO.

Effects of the Concentration of Wealth in a Few Hands.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—If we come to the United States we have the same results from interest and usury as have followed the world around. A few of such results were enumerated in my letter on "Usury" in last Saturday's REPUBLICAN. We are pointed to the immense development of this nation within about two centuries. But the aggregate wealth is not as much as usury would have brought to lenders. A large portion of our aggregate wealth is in the land which was so easily obtainable from the government up to a recent date. That the Hon. Thomas V. Cator considers denationalization of land to have been bad policy can be seen in "Millionaires or Morals." J. S. Mill, Herbert Spencer, Considerant, P. H. Dove and Mr. George substantially agree that nations should retain the title to land as common property, but differ as to the best method of now reaching that object.

The demand for financial reform is in advance. The numbers pressing for speedy nationalization of the currency is certainly far greater than those who now ask for the nationalization of land. Individuals cannot choose the order of national reforms. Such reforms generally move in the line of least resistance. We are treating of the money question and not on land reform. That they are in error, however, who assume the merely collecting current revenues from land values will alone remedy the evils of accumulation and settle all industrial questions, while usury remains and without nationalization of credit, is demonstrated by all history.

The ancient nations which fell under the ravages of usury had not many ages easy access to land. The Romans and other nations frequently planted colonies upon conquered lands of great fertility, but usury devoured them. When the Russian Emperor emancipated the serfs he gave them lands, but usury has enslaved them already. Abijah Garrison, father of William Lloyd Garrison, writing from Granville, Nova Scotia, in 1805, that he intended to remove to the United States, does not complain that land is not cheap, but he says: "But [illegible] country will long lay bound in extreme difficulties and perpetual lawsuits."

There has been no country where land up to a recent period could be had as freely as in the United States. Yet from the earliest days usury has prevented a reasonable distribution of earnings. Land has been given wrongfully to corporations, but under an act of congress an empire has been given freely in tracts of 160 acres to settlers. Mines, the richest the world has ever known, have been given to locators without discrimination. Yet usury has eaten up and enslaved the great mass of those who have entered upon these lands. The position and prominence given to the money question by the Ocala and Omaha platforms is therefore fully warranted.

The concentration of wealth in few hands is alarming and alarming. Out of a total national wealth, land included, of $65,000,000,000 we find that 31,000 persons have more than one-half, or $36,250,000,000; 70 persons have more than $2,700,000,000; 200 persons $4,000,000,000; 182,000 families have more than one-half, or $14,000,000,000; 75,000,000 families only $18,500,000,000. Nine million homes are mortgaged and 2,000,000 of men are out of employment.

National banks have paid dividends in twenty-five years of $3,000,000,000. Tenant farmers are increasing to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] would like to pay a [illegible]. With the aristocracy of wealth and the starving of the masses comes what all history [illegible] and [illegible] the government is [illegible] [illegible] the state and subverting the commonwealth." The usurers of all nations unite. There is but $4,000,000,000 of property in the world. More than one-third of this today is in the hands of the money power, and it requires the labor of 2,500,000 of men, earning $450 per year, to earn the interest on this at 5 per cent only. The principal doubles every fifteen years.

One more decade and a half and mankind is hopelessly enslaved. The kings of Mammon defying divine law and the lessons of ages, enthroned upon the system of private money and individual credit, are flaying a helpless world with the scorpion lash of usury.

LEO LIVINGSTON.

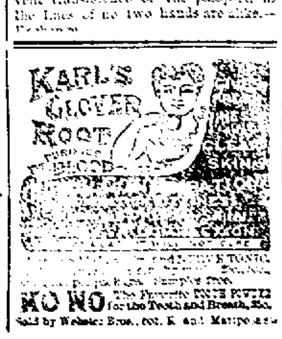

An Englishman's View of the Fair.

What I saw when I gained [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] all that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] pare me for the sight I [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] had been told me. The great White City which rose before me, silent and awful, seemed to belong to an order of things above our common world. It was a poem crystallized in fairy palaces, only to be done into human speech by the voice of some master singer. It was a dream of beauty which blended the memory of classic greatness with the sense of Alpine snows. It was an apocalypse of the architectural imagination. The wildness of the day lent its own apocalyptic setting to the scene. A swaying, drifting curtain of cloud shut in the horizon, blurring lake and sky on the one side in an indistinguishable haze and on the other shrouding the city in a gloom of smoke and rain.

Ever and again the towers of the fair were draped with wreaths of trailing cloud, while the beating rain and chilling wind added to the elemental effect. The cluster of buildings hung together there, a sort of city in the clouds, yet severe and unmistakable in outline. It was a vision of the ideal clothed with mystery. The dreams of Columbus, the aspirations of the pilgrim fathers, the boundless possibilities of the American continent [illegible]—all seemed to have been crystallized in this mute world of [illegible] and [illegible] colonnade and capital. It [illegible] to one colossal temple of [illegible] [illegible], awaiting in silence the presence of the [illegible].—Review of Reviews.

Identification in China.

In China a traveler wishing a passport is compelled to have the palm of his hand brushed over with fine oil paint; he then presses his hand on thin damp paper, which retains an impression of the lines. This is used to prevent transference of the passport, as the lines of no two hands are alike.—[illegible]

HEATH'S DOUBTFUL BAIL

NAMES OF THE SURETIES SIGNED THERETO.

It is Irregular and a Motion for a Bench Warrant Will Be Made Today.

The bail bond of $75,000 on which Richard S. Heath was discharged early Sunday morning was inspected by several interested persons yesterday.

The sureties on the bond are William B. Bourne, capitalist, No. 1801 Broadway, San Francisco, $15,000; E. O. Miller, land office attorney, Visalia, $15,000; Marie A. Curtis, Berkeley, $20,000; William M. Fitzhugh, surveyor and engineer, No. 2519 Broadway, San Francisco, $10,000; Donald Y. Campbell, Orchard street, Oakland, $2500; Charles G. Bonner, vineyardist, Fresno, $5000; W. C. Watson, No. 726 Shotwell street, $5000, and L. H. Allen, merchant, East Oakland, $2500.

Each of these persons were required to justify to the ownership of property double the amount set opposite their names, over and above all just debts and liabilities and property exempt from execution.

An examination of the bond brought to light some irregularities upon which Deputy District Attorney Walser states he will go before Judge Webb this morning and move for a bench warrant for the rearrest of Heath on the ground that the bond is not sufficient.

Among other things it appears that some of the parties to the bond have failed to state their business or occupation, and have only stated their property in a general way. The fact that Mrs. M. A. Curtis is described throughout the justification as a male person is not thought to invalidate the bond.

However, there are grave defects which Mr. Walser considers fatal to its validity. The justifications were taken and approved, part before Judge Walter H. Levy and part before Judge Charles W. Slack, both of San Francisco.

To one jurat Judge Levy signs his name and adds as his magisterial title, "Judge of the superior," and does not go further to state whether it is a court or a cobbler that he is judge of.

Judge Slack insures his name against being dubbed a misnomer by signing it to a jurat without any trimmings, and does not take the pains to state whether he is "judge of the superior," inferior or any middle grade.

The whole matter will come up this morning at 10 o'clock, when Mr. Walser makes his motion that a bench warrant be issued.

"The Ladies' Own Cook Book" or "Our Family Physician"

By sending to this office the name of a new subscriber to either daily or weekly with pay for first month for daily (sixty cents) or three months (seventy-five cents) for weekly.

These books are, either of them, worth many times the price of the paper, but are given away so as to increase the already large circulation of THE FRESNO MORNING REPUBLICAN and FRESNO WEEKLY REPUBLICAN.

The books are well and substantially bound, clearly printed, and are highly useful in the household.

OUR FAMILY PHYSICIAN

Is a standard work, over 100,000 copies having been printed and sold. It was compiled and edited by H. R. Stout, M. D., a physician of more than national reputation. It is a plain, practical and reliable guide to the detection and treatment of all the diseases common to the country. Designed for use by people who have not made the practice of medicine a study or a business and who are not supposed to be familiar with technical phrases and names, but want information stated in plain English. Gives separately with every disease the treatment prescribed by each of the "schools" and full and explicit directions for nursing the sick, preparation of food for the sick, etc.

To know when to go after a doctor is an important thing. Nine times out of ten calling one is a useless expense, while failing to call one at the proper time may cost a life. This book contains 540 pages, bound in cloth, making an ornamental, as well as useful, addition to any library.

THE LADIES' OWN COOK BOOK

Is a practical and economical guide to cooking, canning, curing and preserving. Including also a chapter on confectionery, showing how to make all kinds of candies, ice cream, etc., by MRS. JANE WARREN.

This book is a standard authority on cooking. It is very tastefully printed and bound in oilcloth.

A copy of either of these valuable books will be presented to any subscriber of THE REPUBLICAN, according to the terms set forth above.
